

---

COURSES

PDF COMMUNICATION

---

COM101      Oral Communications    3 Credits

Introduction to the principles and practices of public speaking.

COM102      Intro to Interpersonal
                                                 Communication    3 Credits

Introduction to the field, principles and concepts of interpersonal communication.

COM113      Fundamentals of Speech
                                                 Communication    3 Credits

Prerequisites: None Introduces principles and theories of speech communication. Includes participation in public speaking and interpersonal communication.

COM215      Introduction to Group
                                                 Communication    3 Credits

Prerequisites: None Introduces communication as it functions within small task groups. Emphasizes observation and analysis of actual small group behavior and on improvement of communication skills within the small group setting. Topics to include leadership, conflict, norms, role structure, cohesiveness and decision making. Course stresses student involvement in exercises, discussions and group projects.

COM299      Special Topics in Communication    3 Credits

Investigates a special topic or technique of speech communication.

COM412      Intercultural
                                                 Communication    3 Credits

Factors important to meaningful communication across cultures with emphasis on intercultural differences in North America.